Contemplating Anna Rohegova-Cederholm's lithography "Maria and Feodor"

Magnus Nilsson:

"Aside from being a very beautiful art piece the motive reminds me of the beauty of life. In these sad times marked by distance and loneliness, the picture creates a feeling of hope and happiness. Not a longing for traveling or to make my way on busy streets, restaurants and bars but rather closeness to those who are near and dear.

If anything, good comes out of this period we are living in now is the insight to take good care of all the we have near us.

I have not realized the value of family, friends and relationships that ask for nothing in return until now when nothing can be taken for given

Anna Rohegova's lithography "Maria and Feodor" makes me long for the everyday life that I have ignored to appreciate "
